WHere as diuers expert maisters in astronomy haue made pronostications for this present yere/if we shulde translate into our co,mon langa ge the pronostications of euery d ctour/it shulde be a tedious besines and cõfusyõ prolixite/aswele to the trãslater as to the redars of the same. Ther fore to auoyde suche tedious prolixte we haue ted the pnosticati ons of Jaspar/Cornelius/& Adrian. Amonge whome we haue trãslated t' nostication of maister Adrian as most cõpendious cl. my other written for this present yere/ wher-of ame amonge lerned men of the moste exc: ltie/which lyueth at this tyme: ther-for rpedient to translate the pronostica tion. maister Adrian rather than of any other.

shulde declare the foundation and grounde whe ctions of the celestiall constellations of the yer grounded. but to auoyde the tediousnes of plix rt to write of suche foundacions. Neuerthe le che som of them: that is to say. the eclyps of the lo, and of th :oone. which eclyps shal haue strengthe and effect in this present yere. And fyrst of al we regard and consyder the eclyps of the Soñ/whiche was the yere of our lorde. M. D. xvij. the. viij. day of June/in the thirde aspect of Gemini which yet extẽdeth his effect vnto this psent yere. Secondly we regard & cõsider the eclyps of the soñ/which was in the last yere passed the. xvij. day of October. whiche eclyps shal worke his effecte a bout Autumne or harueste tyme of this present yere. Thyrdly we consyder the eclyps of the moone/whiche was the. vj. day of No uember of the yere last passed/which also shal haue strength and effect anon after the eclyps of this present yere/and shal so conty nue al the wynter.

¶ Of the eclyps of the soñ of this yere.

¶ In this yere we shal haue a smal eclyps of the soñ nat erten-dyng it selfe vnt .vj. poyntis/amountyng as if it were almoste vnto the fourth part of halfe the soñ. and this eclyps shalbe th xj. day of October the. v. houre. the. vj. minute. at after none. an shal contynue an houre/and almost an halfe. This eclyps shal
